

International Warranty & user manual

Dear Customer,

Thank you for having purchased this Tamawa watch. The manufacturer, Tamawa sprl and its appointed distributors cover your watch with a warranty against any manufacturing defect during two years.

The warranty is conditional to an evidence of the purchase date such as the original, correctly filled-in warranty card or the dealer's invoice. The service technicians appointed by the manufacturer will be the final judges in determining whether the cause of defect is the manufacturer's responsibility.

Such manufacturing defects by the official service or the manufacturer are free of charge within two years from the purchase date. This limited warranty does not cover: damages resulting from accidents, mishandling or abusive use (excessive shocks, denting, breaking, ect.), unauthorised alteration, handling and/or repair by person without proven professional qualification, normal wear, tear and aging battery, strap, buckle.

This warranty excludes any responsibility for consequential damages and/or third-party claims and/or loss. All parts replaced under warranty remain the property of the manufacturer.
